Composite Facades

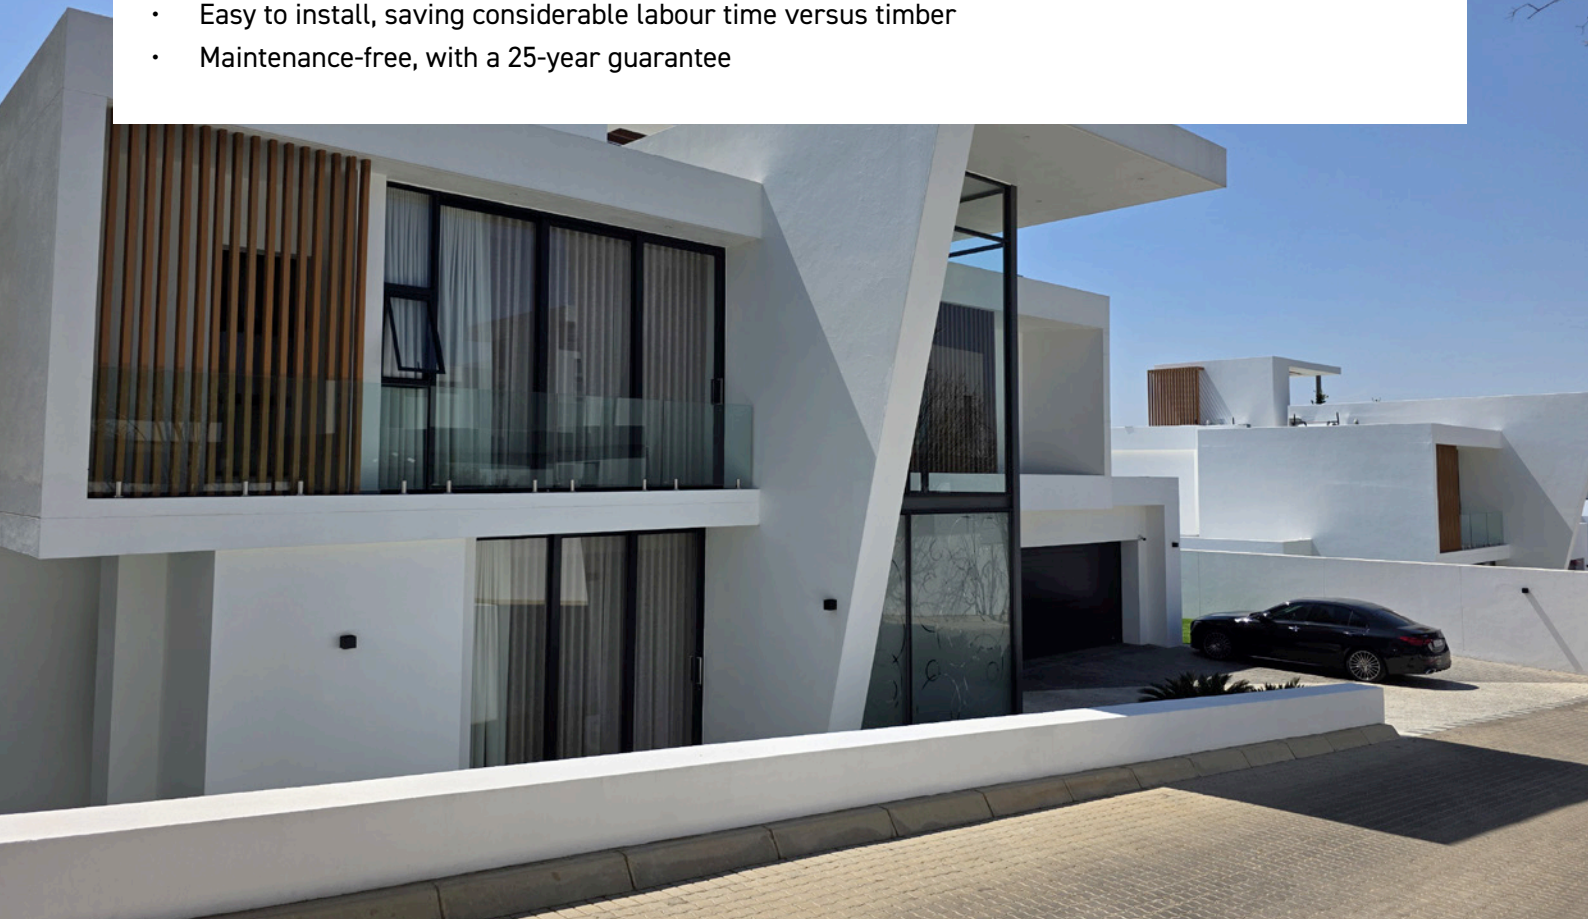

Modern aesthetics, lasting performance

Best Deck continues to expand its product range with solutions that combine contemporary design and practical durability.

Fluted panelling has quickly become one of our most striking and versatile offerings. It brings the warmth and texture of timber to both residential and commercial spaces, with none of the maintenance demands.

Since its launch, fluted panelling has proven itself across a wide range of applications, from vertical facades and ceilings to gates and feature walls.

- Timber-inspired appearance with superior long-term durability
- Suitable for facades, ceilings, gates and feature applications
- Easy to install, saving considerable labour time versus timber
- Maintenance-free, with a 25-year guarantee

Fluted Panelling and Cladding

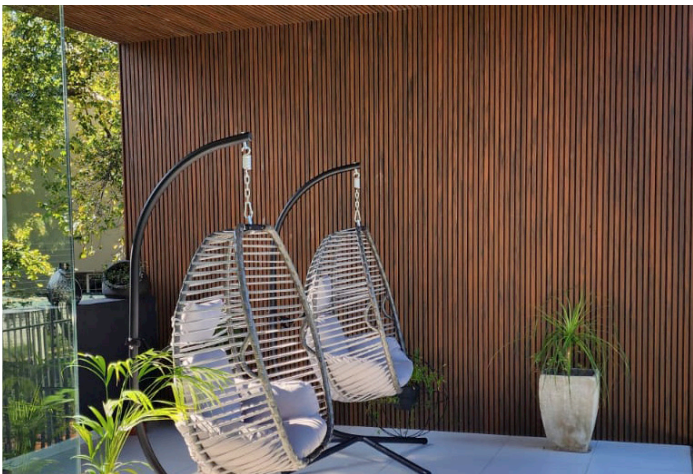

A smart, long-term solution

Composite cladding remains one of Best Deck's most reliable and effective products for residential and commercial applications.

It delivers a clean, contemporary finish, requires no regular painting or sealing and performs well in challenging conditions. The KZN Tourism Centre on North Beach in Durban has been clad in our products for more than six years, enduring constant sun and sea spray while still looking as good as the day it was installed.

From facades and feature walls to ceilings and gate constructions, composite cladding is a versatile and practical way to refresh a space while reducing the ongoing maintenance demands of traditional finishes.

- No regular painting or sealing required
- Suitable for a wide range of exterior and interior applications
- Proven performance in demanding coastal and inland environments
- An effective solution for cracked or damp-damaged surfaces

Pergolas

Shade, structure and style

Composite pergolas continue to grow in popularity because they add real design value to outdoor spaces while remaining practical and maintenance-free.

Best Deck pergolas create structure, define zones and transform open outdoor areas into finished, functional environments for entertaining and relaxing. They achieve aesthetics that timber does not allow and carry long-term guarantees.

Available in a range of styles and configurations, including the fascia pergola, beamed pergola and weaved pergola, plus bespoke cantilever designs.

- Maintenance-free alternative to timber pergolas
- Strong visual impact in outdoor spaces
- Range of styles and sizes, including cantilever designs
- Waterproofing options available using polycarbonate sheeting

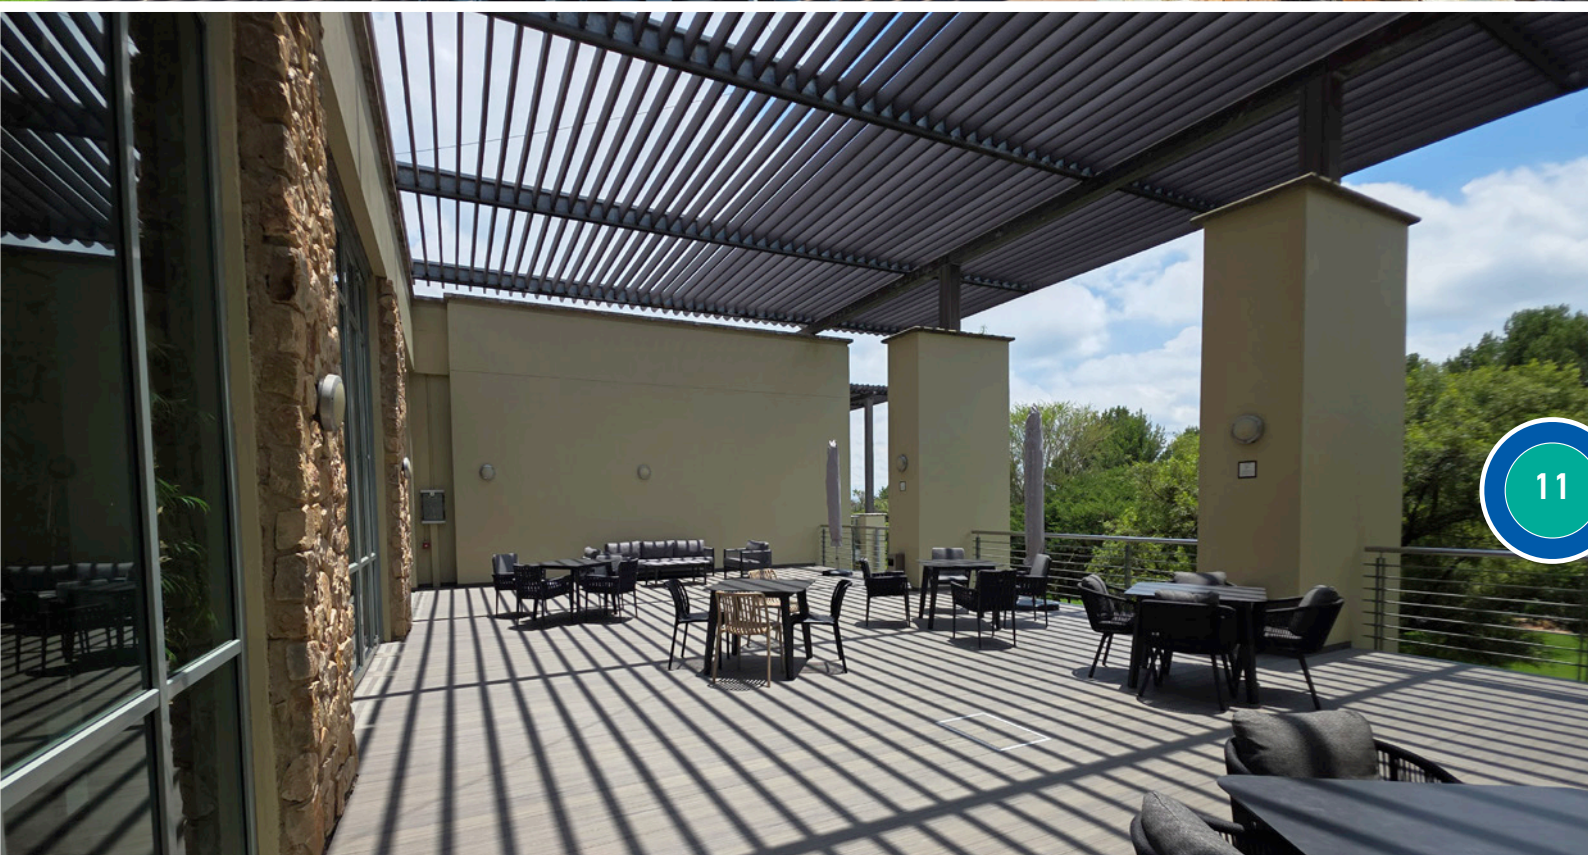

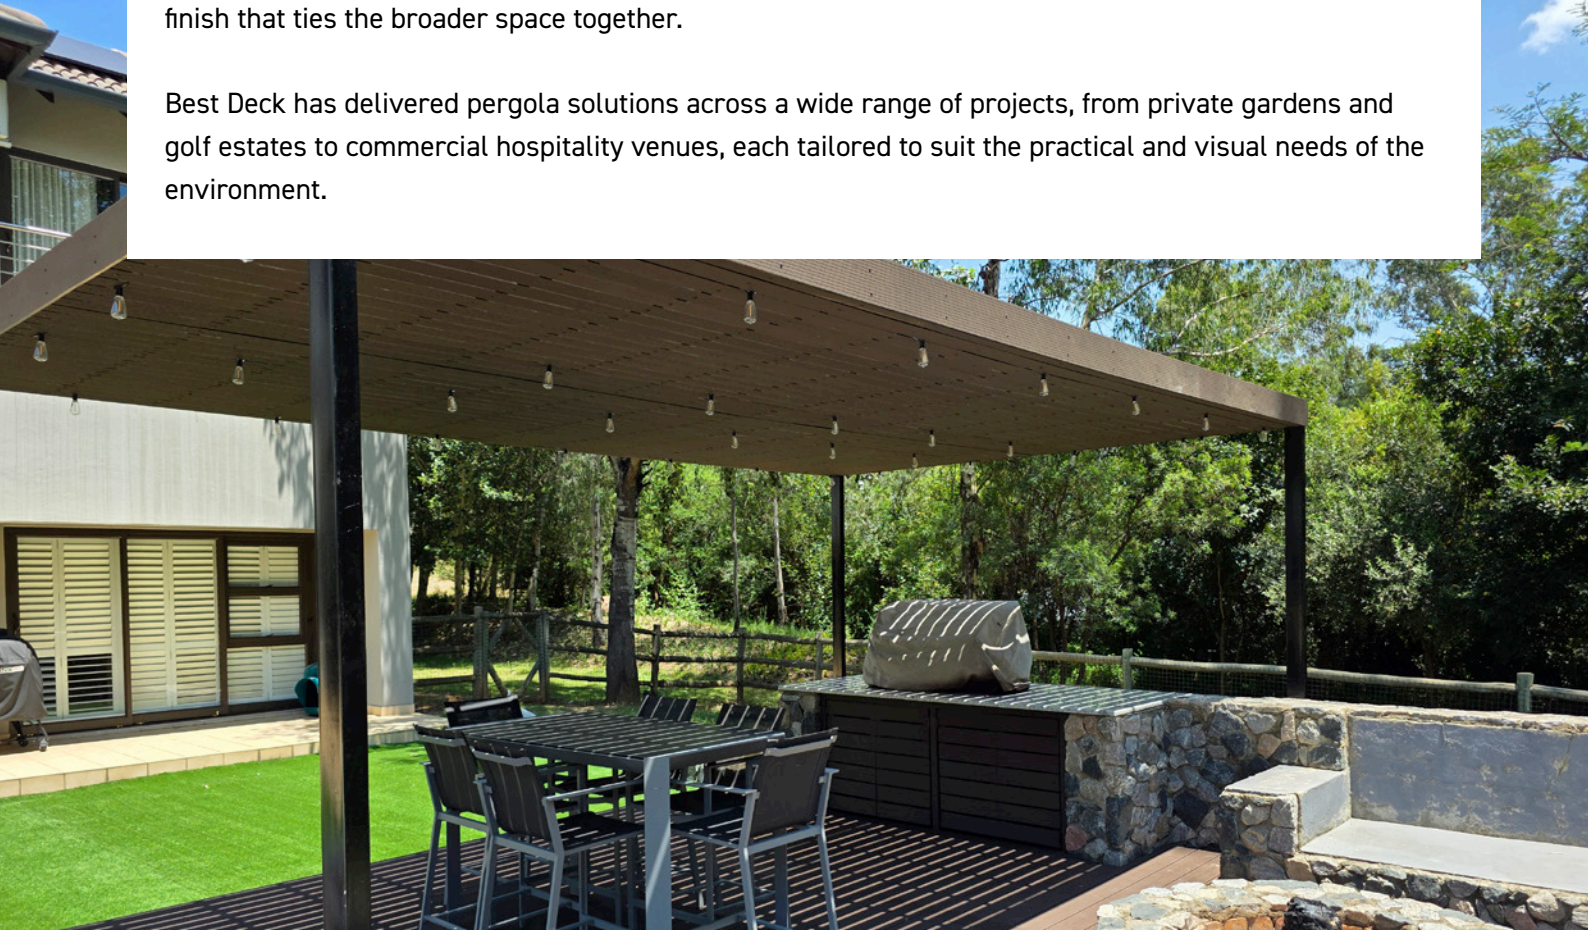

Pergolas

A practical addition to any outdoor space

Pergolas are more than design features. They help create comfortable, usable outdoor areas that work throughout the year.

As an addition to patios, decks and entertainment spaces, they provide shade, shelter and a polished finish that ties the broader space together.

Best Deck has delivered pergola solutions across a wide range of projects, from private gardens and golf estates to commercial hospitality venues, each tailored to suit the practical and visual needs of the environment.

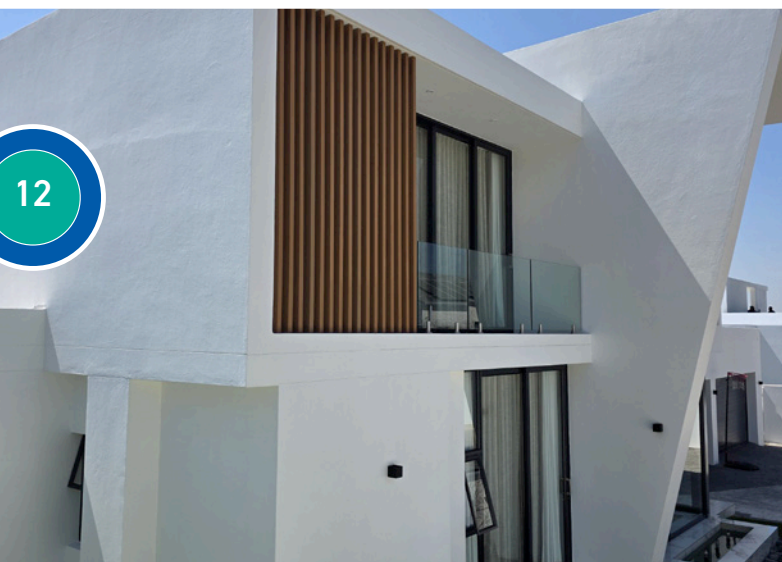

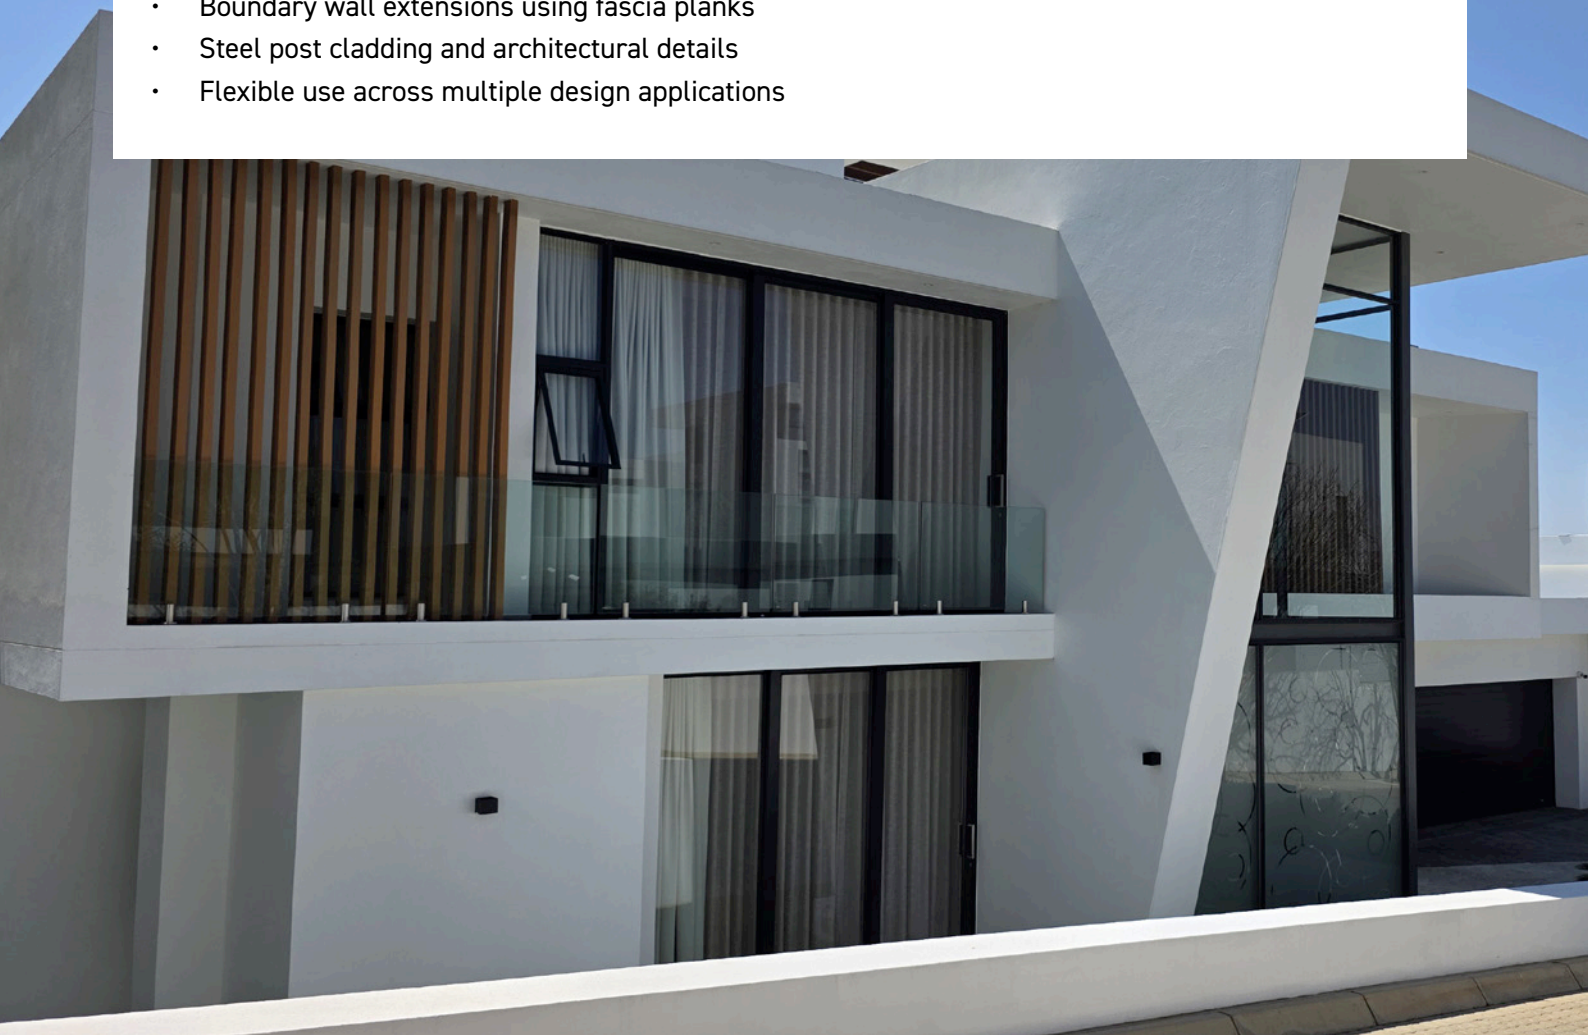

Composite Versatility

More ways to complete a space

Best Deck's experience in composite wood extends well beyond the main product categories. From shade and privacy screens to raised boundary walls, steel post cladding and architectural detailing, composite profiles can be used creatively to bring cohesion, privacy and visual interest to any project.

With the largest product range and deepest stock holding in the industry, we can help complete the overall look and carry a consistent material language throughout a space.

- Shade and privacy screen solutions
- Boundary wall extensions using fascia planks
- Steel post cladding and architectural details
- Flexible use across multiple design applications

These products are designed to meet practical safety requirements while contributing to the overall appearance and finish of the space. All our cladding and fascia plank profiles can be used in gate construction, giving designers and homeowners a wide range of options.

Whether the requirement is supply-only or a full installation, Best Deck designs and builds to suit the unique requirements of each project.

- Composite and steel gate options
- Stainless steel cabled balustrades ideal for coastal areas

House Ndlovu

Where composite meets architecture

House Ndlovu is one of Best Deck's most striking residential projects and a showcase of what composite wood can achieve when design ambition is matched by product quality and installation expertise.

Working closely with the project team, Best Deck supplied and installed composite decking, wall cladding, fluted panelling and balustrade elements across the property, creating a seamless material language that connects indoor and outdoor spaces.

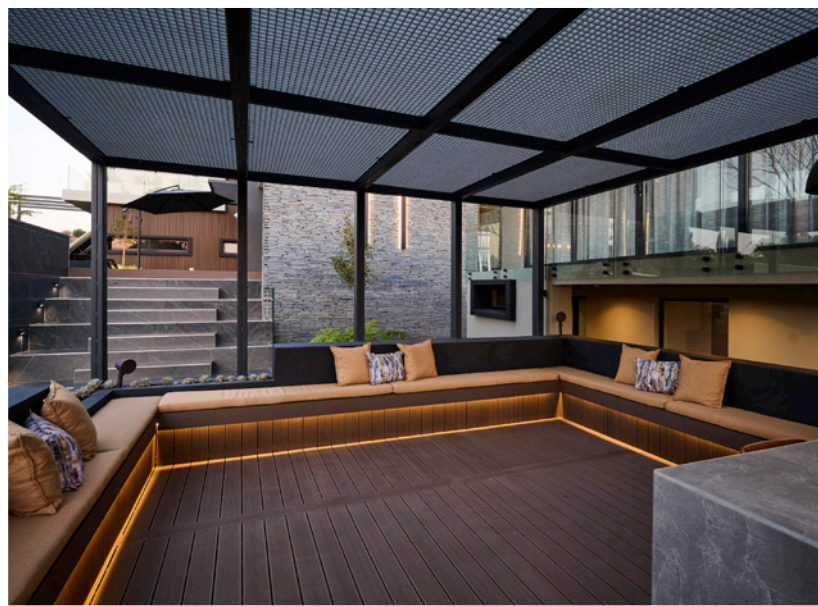

The result is a home where every surface works together: from the pool deck and entertainment areas to the exterior facades and upper-level detailing.

Setting the standard

The scope of this project demonstrates the breadth of the Best Deck offering. Composite decking defines the ground-level living areas and wraps around the infinity pool. Fluted panelling and cladding bring warmth and texture to the exterior facades. Glass and composite balustrades provide safety without interrupting the architectural lines.

The covered entertainment area, with its built-in seating, LED strip lighting and bar counter, is a particular highlight, showing how composite materials can be detailed to a standard that matches the finest interior finishes.

House Ndlovu is a benchmark for premium residential composite applications and a project that continues to look as good as the day it was completed.

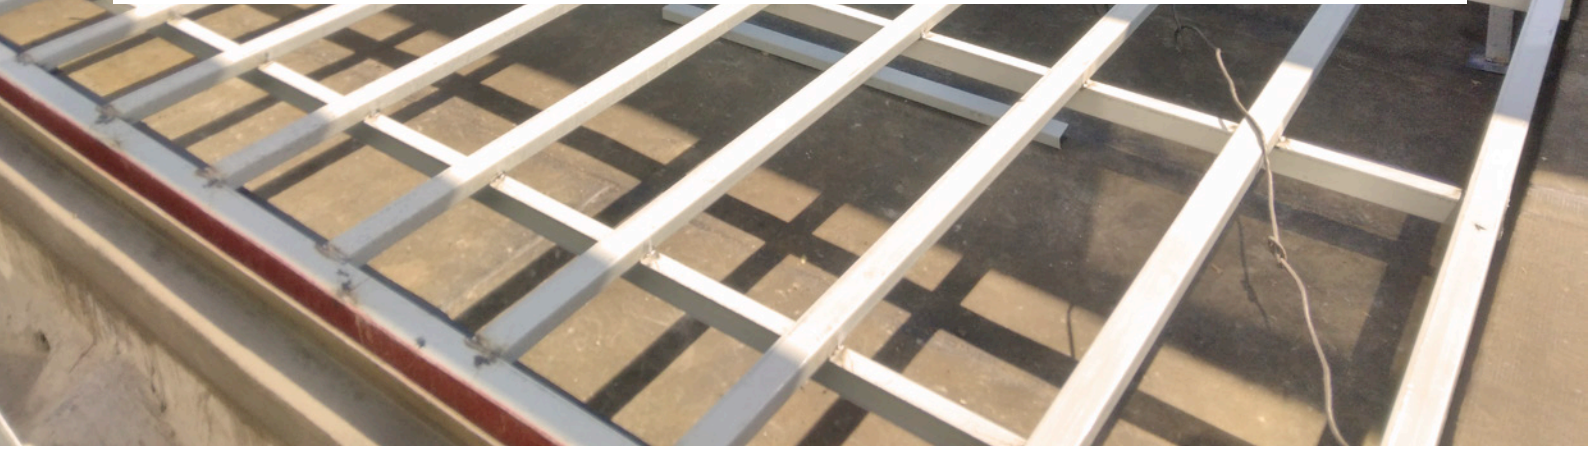

Support Structures

Quality starts with the right foundation

The long-term success of any composite installation depends on the support structure beneath it. Best Deck places strong emphasis on ensuring that every installation is built on a sound, suitable framework.

A solid foundation is essential to the functionality and longevity of the product. If the structure is not right, the product will not perform as it should, regardless of its quality.

- Lightweight galvanised steel c-channel used for most installations
- Pressure-treated timber used in coastal environments where appropriate
- Careful preparation and inspection before any boards or profiles are installed

Available in five colours (Walnut, Acacia, Sahara, Classic Grey, Cobble Stone) and offered in wide-profile planks throughout South Africa and Africa.

- 100% waterproof and high-impact resistant
- Built-in rubber underlay for comfort underfoot
